Not illustrated. 1907 Excerpt: .secretary, shares the work with us, and between that society and the Army, the need of every protestant prisoner is met, both spiritually and temporally. Nearly four years ago the Minister of Justice at Ottawa gave our officer access to all the penitentiaries in the Dominion. Discharge sheets are furnished us from each institution by the warden, which of course is a great assistance, as it enables us to make proper provision for those whose early discharge is anticipated. The work is individual rather than collective in its character. Although we regard the privilege of conducting religious services with the prisoners as important and very desirable, yet it is by personal dealing we get to know the man. We hd 19,000 interviews with prisoners in the various jails, prisons and penitentiaries in Canada during the last year. But we have found it beneficial, however, to start even earlier in the career of the criminal. In numbers of police courts our representatives attend regularly, and without intruding, are often the means of saving young offenders from the cells. When special cases claim the attention of our attendant, he may offer a suggestion to take the prisoner, but as a rule he waits for the magistrate or Crown Attorney to indicate their wishes. Repeatedly the magistrate will let a man go on suspended sentence in care of the Salvation Army. (We are hoping the probationary law will soon be put in force in Canada.) But here is a...
